

Burgundy Gites

While shopping and cooking are often a delight rather than a chore when on holiday in Burgundy, after a long drive or flight many of our guests have expressed relief at having essential shopping done for them; being able to relax straight away and sit out on the balcony with a glass of chilled wine and a light supper.

As one guest summed it up last year 'Arrived to a warm welcome from Jill and Ken at their first class gite. Food and wine waiting, the stove lit – what a great way to start what has proved an excellent holiday.' Oct 2007
